U.S. ARMY MISSION AND INSTALLATION CONTRACTING COMMAND

The U.S. Army Mission and Installation Contracting Command is a major subordinate command of the U.S. Army Contracting Command. MICC Soldiers, civilians and contractors support Soldiers and their families in the continental United States and Puerto Rico by providing Army commands, installations and activities with disciplined and responsive contracting solutions and oversight. It also, on order, aligns and provides Contracting Forces in order to enable Army Unified Land Operations.

Headquartered at Joint Base San Antonio-Fort Sam Houston, Texas, the MICC is a one-star command made up of more than 1,500 military and civilian members assigned to three contracting support brigades, one field directorate office and 32 contracting offices that provide contracting support across the Army.

The MICC supports the warfighter by acquiring equipment, supplies and services vital to the U.S. Army mission and well-being of Soldiers and their families. The command also supports the Army's contingency and wartime missions by rapidly deploying trained and ready contingency contracting Soldiers around the world to procure goods and services in austere environments.

MICC-contracted services and supplies touch virtually every Soldier in the Army – from facilities support services, commercial and institutional building construction, administrative and general management consulting services to wired telecommunication and engineering services, contracted food services, advertising and transition services. The MICC ensures America's Soldiers and their families have what they need during and after their military service.

The ACC has charged the MICC to be the most efficient and effective contracting organization the Army can afford to meet the needs of its customers and military partners. It focuses its resources and expertise on the timely award of contracted solutions as the Army continues to transition to a smaller, leaner and more agile force.

Contracting Soldiers from across the command continue to play a greater operational role. MICC members provided operational contract support as part Operation United Assistance in West Africa, helping combat the Ebola epidemic. MICC Soldiers also provided contingency contracting in support of a number of named operations including Operation Enduring Freedom, which transitioned to Operation Freedom's Sentinel Jan. 1, 2015, Operation Inherent Resolve and the NATO-led Resolute Support as well as multiple contingencies across the globe.
